24h Race: information on the Corona virus

- Organisers thoroughly watch the preventive measures around major events
- Still seven and eleven weeks to go to the 24h Qualifying Race and 24h Race respectively
- Currently no restrictions whatsoever regarding the execution of the 24h Race.

As organisers of major events, such as the ADAC TOTAL 24h Race and the ADAC 24h Qualifying Race, ADAC Nordrhein regards it as its duty to thoroughly survey its events regarding preventive measures against Corona-/Covid-19 virus. Therefore, ADAC Nordrhein keeps a weather eye on the situation and therefore permanently communicates with Nürburgring 1927 GmbH & Co. KG as well as the local authorities. But as the events are scheduled only for the 25th to 06th April and 21st to 24th May, there currently aren't any concrete plans to hold the events without spectators or cancel them completely. At this point in time, all the discussions regarding possible restrictions of sports events solely apply to those held in the coming two weeks as no reliable predictions can be made for a longer period in time. None the less, those responsible will keep on watching the preventive measures around public events thoroughly and keep competitors, stewards and spectators up-to-date with the latest news via the website and the social-media channels of the 24h Race.
